3 YEARS
TO TAKE ACTION!

What steps can we take right now to reduce the impact of our buildings, increase resilience and prepare for change?

The latest IPCC report is a warning call.

Greenhouse gas emissions must peak within the next 3 years if we are to meet the crucial target of keeping global warming below 1.5°C.

The building sector must spearhead the change.

The 5th Build & Connect conference will showcase the different routes available to meet the climate target and give a platform to those who are already taking action and driving transformation. Two days in which to give impetus, lay the groundwork for action, establish partnerships... and ramp up the pace.

The big topics

Renovation:

How to rise to the challenge?

Low-carbon construction:

How to transform the sectors?

The building as an energy producer:

How to promote energy independence?

Visions & Behaviours:

What can be done to promote 'sobriety'?

What new features will buildings in the cities of the future have?

What more can the construction sector do to embrace the circular economy?

Digital technology: an asset or a challenge?

What new occupations and skills can we expect in the future?
